Offer to Refund Money if Hyomei Does Not Cure Catarrh.

To the Editor of the Breckenridge News:

We have been asked recently if the advertisements printed in your columns regarding Hyomei were true, where we offer to refund the money if this treatment does not cure catarrh. We wish you would please print this letter in as conspicuous a place as possible in your paper, saying that we absolutely agree to refund the money to any purchaser of a Hyomei outfit if it does not cure catarrh.

This outfit consists of an inhaler of a convenient size to be carried in the vest pocket so that the user can breathe Hyomei four or five times daily. With this is included medicine dropper and bottle of Hyomei. The outfit sells for $1.00 and is a most economical treatment, for the inhaler lasts a lifetime and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' use, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

We trust this letter will settle any doubts that may have arisen as to our willingness to refund the money for a Hyomei outfit, in case the purchaser is not perfectly satisfied.

We wish to say emphatically that our guarantee on Hyomei holds good, and we will refund the money to any dissatisfied purchaser who simply states that he has used the treatment according to directions and not been helped.

Respectfully yours,
Short & Haynes.

Moroccan Slave Markets.

The sale of slaves in Morocco is a very remarkable ceremony. When the buyers have taken their seats in the market place the auctioneers advance in line to the center of the market and offer up a prayer. They appeal for divine favor on behalf of buyers and sellers and anathematize Satan and all his works. The buyers interpose "amen" at the proper moments. When the last word of prayer has been said the slaves are brought forward, paraded out among the auctioneers and led around the circle of buyers, who raise the prices of the men, women and children they desire to purchase.

Rossini's Criticism.

Very cruel, says an author, was Rossini's silent criticism of a score sent to him by a young musician. Rossini was fond of macaroni. The musician, knowing this, sent him along with his score a packet of macaroni of unusual excellence. In a humble little note he asked the composer to point out the merits of his work if he found any there. Rossini's reply ran like this: "Thanks for your score and the macaroni. The latter was excellent."

The Original.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Sold by A. R. Fisher.

Cleora's Wives.

Cleora had a shrew named Terentia, who made him do as she pleased. He was under great obligations to Cleodius, but when the divorce suit of Cleora against Pompeia came up for trial Terentia compelled Cleora to appear against Cleodius. Tired of Terentia, Cleora got a divorce and married a rich girl named Publilia, left her and lived alone until his death.

Pity the Widow.

From the Cork Constitution: "The friends of a respectable young widow want to get her housekeeping in a respectable widow's family. Understands her business." There seems a certain want of finesse in this latter statement. London Punch.

She Told Him.

De Bore - Is Miss Lillwhite in? Truthful Domestic - She's out. De Bore - Hum! Whom is she out with? Truthful Domestic - Out with you.

If thou art a master, be sometimes blind; if a servant, sometimes deaf. - Fuller.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by Short & Haynes.

Some Reasons Why Secret

Ballot is Not Preferable.

(Kentucky Register.)

Although the time is near at hand for the people of Kentucky to determine whether they are to continue the secret ballot system, or return to the old custom of "viva voce" voting, little has been said upon that subject by the press of the state. The last legislature submitted to the vote of the people an amendment to the constitution allowing a revival of the old fashioned method of voting, which measure will be balloted upon at the regular election in November. So little discussion has been indulged in regarding this important event, that it is not generally known, and we desire to take this opportunity of calling it to the attention of our readers.

There is no doubt now since the Australian system has been given a fair trial that the other is preferable and best. In the first place it will break up a lying and hypocritical custom people have of promising to vote for a person when they have no more idea of really doing so than the man in the moon.

Secondly by breaking up the habit alluded to in the paragraph above, it will save many a candidate a mint of money, as he will know then before he goes into a race what chance he has, and the coin he spends will then do him some good, when its results nowadays are very doubtful.

Then, plainly speaking, it will help to transform a lot of scoundrels into men of honor, for when they promise to vote for a man there is no way of getting around it, as he will know exactly how you vote.

All honest candidates and honest people in general ought to get out and use their influence in its behalf. It would help powerfully to purify politics.

Ready For Investigation.

J. P. Killebrew, recently appointed special agent of the Department of Agriculture in the tobacco investigations, began his work in Kentucky and Tennessee last week. Before leaving Washington he received instructions in a general way as to his duties. First of all, he will collect data to be used by the crop estimation board of the department, in making the November estimate of the average yield per acre, and average quality of the tobacco crop.

Improved Potato Pumpkin.

A potato pumpkin of a fine and improved variety, grown by Thos. Lewis, was on exhibition at A. R. Fisher's drug store last week. The pumpkin is thirty-one inches in length and all the seeds are in the head, which is quite small. The usual potato pumpkin is shorter.

An Awful Cough Cured.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat," writes Mrs. Ora Bassard, Brubaker, Ill. This remedy is for sale by Short & Haynes.

Kentucky Quarantine Raised.

Confident that all danger from the further spread of yellow fever is over, the members of the State Board of Health issued an order last Wednesday raising the quarantine against the infected districts of the South.

The Catamaran.

The catamaran, made of a hollowed log, shares the popularity of the Mas-soola boat with the fishermen of Madras. The rickety looking contrivance can weather any storm in the skillful native hands, and letters are sent by this means to ships in the offing when other communication with the shore is impossible. The catamaran requires steering with a paddle through the raging surf, and, though the boatman may be frequently dashed out of the rude skiff by the violence of the waves, he leaps into his frail bark again with the efficiency of long practice, and the catamaran, flying over the crest of the great billows which threaten instant destruction, accomplishes the perilous voyage in safety.

MATTINGLY BAPTIST CHURCH

To be Organized This Week--Money Nearly Subscribed to Build.

Rev. Geo. Jones, of Pelville, will organize a Baptist church at Mattingly on next Saturday afternoon. The membership will be about twenty at the start. About ten Baptists, residents of Mattingly, will withdraw their letters from Pisgah church and some from other churches, to become members of the new church. Nearly enough money has already been subscribed to build a church at Mattingly.

Rev. Jones conducted a successful protracted meeting in a store house at Mattingly several weeks ago.

An Offer Declined.

Persons who are envious of those whom they are pleased to call the fortunate rarely count the cost of success. Apropos of this, an amusing story is told of General Lefevre, duke of Dantzic. One day the general had a visit from a friend of his youth, who commented, not without feelings of envy, on the dignities and riches which the duke, who was born in a peasant's cottage, had acquired in many battles and by his faithful services.

"Oh, I am prepared," was the rejoinder, "to hand them over to you at the very price I paid for them. We will proceed together into my garden. There you shall walk up and down for the space of half an hour while I command a company of infantry to fire on you. There were more in my case, but you shall have the benefit of altered circumstances. If you are not shot in thirty minutes all that is mine shall be yours."

The "Tale of a Tub."

One of the most ancient of all sea "yarns" is one that ships have escaped from the fearsome monsters of the deep by throwing them a tub to divert their attention, in much the same way that a landsman might sacrifice a garment in order to escape a bull. In Munster's "Cosmography," published in 1544, there is a picture of a vessel escaping from a whale by this stratagem, while the earlier editions of Swift's "Tale of a Tub" have a similar one. These stories were usually told in such an incoherent way that people became skeptical of their truth, and when a pleader named Tubb put a cause before Sir Thomas More in outrageously rambling language that chamberlain jocularly remarked, "Here is a tale of a tub." Thereafter the expression became part of the slang of the period until much later it was raised to a higher rank by becoming the title of Swift's famous work.

Styles In Africa.

The women bore a hole in their top lip and gradually increase this until it is able to inclose a disk of wood two and even three inches in diameter. A Mubira woman came to call on us whose disk measured two and five-eighths inches across. The size of the wood inserted proclaims the rank of the person. Peasants are only allowed to wear pieces of stick of the same dimensions as a match.

The weight of the wood causes the lip to fall down over the mouth, and in order to eat it is necessary to lift up this shutter with one hand while the other conveys the food to the mouth. Frequently the lip breaks under the strain put upon it, in which case the disconnected ends are carried back and tied to the ear. "On the Borders of Pygmy Land."

FUND TO ERECT A MONUMENT

To Capt. J. P. Cummings to be Raised by Members of His Command.

The members of company A of the Green River Battalion have set on foot a movement to raise a fund to pay for a monument to be erected over the grave of J. P. Cummings, captain of said company A and also of company L of the Third Kentucky Cavalry.

Captain Cummings was killed in action in April, 1865, two miles south of Big Spring, on the Singleton Casey farm, and was buried in what is known as the Bordett graveyard, about three and one half miles southeast of Cloverport and three-fourths of a mile south of the Hardinsburg and Cloverport pike. His grave is unmarked and will remain so unless this fund is raised by the soldier boys who fought under him.

A small subscription is solicited from the public to help to raise the required amount.

The following has been appointed a committee to solicit and receive contributions: Charles Sipes, Garfield; S. E. Waggoner, Cloverport; Judge Wm. Anl, Dr. A. M. Kincheloe, M. L. Kincheloe, Hardinsburg.

Dr. A. M. Kincheloe is treasurer and contributions can be paid to any member of the committee or to the treasurer.

Cloverport Negress Does Piece of Funny Work at Hawesville.

(Hancock Clarion.)

Hallie Warfield, a dusky female whose home is in Cloverport, but who for some time has been making her home with the family of Sheriff Cunningham, of Cannelton, did a piece of funny work in this city Sunday afternoon and was picked up very soon thereafter by Marshal Mason. In company with Minerva Bates she went to the Trabue home and stole a pair of shoes belonging to Mrs E. W. Sprague. She was not detected in the act and got across the river, but returned here later. When arrested she denied the act and half-way convinced the owner of the property that she was innocent. The officer told her, however, that he would imprison her if she did not return the shoes. Becoming alarmed she asked the officer to go across the river with her and she would find the goods; this he did and along about 11 o'clock on Sunday night the woman took the officer through alleys and back lots and showed him the stolen shoes hidden in the weeds in some one's yard. The officer returned the shoes to the owner about midnight, and the negro was told to stay out of Hawesville.

Presidential Election will make no change

No matter which candidate is elected, Foley's Honey and Tar will remain the people's favorite remedy for coughs, colds and incipient consumption. It cures colds quickly and prevents pneumonia. A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar and eight doses cured me." Sold by A. R. Fisher.

Railway Wheels.

Did you ever notice that the wheels of a locomotive engine are beveled? The reason for this is that in rounding a curve the outer rail is, of course, a little longer than the inner one. The difference is very little, but it would be enough to make an engine "skid" unless it were reckoned for. In the beveled wheel the higher part, with its greater circumference, is forced against the outer rail by the very tendency of the engine to drive straight ahead, and with the other wheel the smaller circumference rests on the rail, thus overcoming the difference in the lengths of the lines.

Alcohol as Medicine.

"Alcohol has a certain position as a medicine," said Sir Frederick Treves recently, "but in the last twenty-five years its use by the medical profession has steadily diminished. It is often said that alcohol is an excellent appetizer, but the appetite does not need artificial stimulation. If the body wants feeding, it demands food."

When It Grew Tiresome.

"I never thought," said the conceited lecturer, "that my voice would fill that hall."
"No," replied the candid man, "I thought at one time it would empty it." - Philadelphia Public Ledger.
